1. Claims 1-6 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 1 and 10, it is unclear what “switching signal”. It is also unclear which signal is used to vary one of the reference voltage and the external comparison voltage until the comparator output changes its logic value at each switched stage of the commutator?

It is also unclear what is meant by “buffering, via the control unit, the voltage values respectively varied in the preceding step ...”. Where is the buffering step in flow chart of figure # 2?

The dependent claims not specifically address share the same indefiniteness as they depend from rejected base claims.

2. Claims 1-6 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

It is unclear how the method steps recited in the instant claims 1-6 and 10 corresponding to the method steps of flow chart of figure 2?

3. Applicant's arguments filed on 09/15/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

It appears that the flow chart of figure 2 because it appears that the flow chart of figure 2 do not have support for those steps as recited in claims 1-6 and 10.
